Story of the Month:
The Lion Makers

Author : Unknown
Contributed by : Adhvika

Four friends live in a village which has been struck by famine. Three of them are extremely clever and learned and consider their friend Shiva a lazy but practical fool.

The four decide to go to a place called Manasa, which is considered an asylum for scholars. On their way, they have to pass through a forest. There they come across bones of a lion. Satya decides to show his knowledge by recreating the lion's skeleton. The other friend reconstructs the lion's muscles and structure. Vidyanand then wants to show his superior powers by breathing life into the lion.

Shiva tries to stop them and warns them of the consequences of their plans. But they do not stop. Shiva climbs a tree before Vidyanand foolishly proceeds with his plans. The lion comes to life and devours the three learned fools, yet Shiva's practical nature saves him.

Moral of the Story:

It is better to be practical and knowledgeable than to show off.

COVID-19 Vaccine

By: Advay

It has officially been a year since the first case of COVID-19 was recorded in Wuhan, China. Since then the virus has spread around the world reshaping how we go about our daily lives. In the past couple of months, the pandemic has gotten drastically worse with a rapid increase in recorded cases. Luckily, there is good news, as there are currently 50+ vaccines in development around the world. Of those vaccines there are currently 2 in the US that are being distributed. They are the Moderna Vaccine and Pfizer-BioNtech Vaccine. They both have roughly the same efficiency with the Moderna Vaccine being 94.5% effective and the Pfizer-BioNtech Vaccine being 95% effective. They also both require 2 doses but Moderna is 4 weeks apart while Pfizer-BioNtech is 3 weeks. The vaccines are a sign of good things to come and hopefully we can move past this pandemic.
